Director Kristina Fenselon reported that this year the process has been changed to a proposal process and all are fighting for a pot of money, which makes it difficult to budget for the year. They were told to "shoot for the stars" and cover the fuel bills. The only known amount is the State allocation of $148,212.00 and the Federal amount requested is $280,000.00 for fuel. Each vehicle has to be broken out to miles per gallon, how many gallons each vehicle uses per year to justify the $280,000.00. This is a total different process this year. The actual operating expenses requested is $638,225.00, which is about $180,000.00 more than what was received for this year. Precious Cargo is discussing partnering with Transit to purchase fuel for a better locked in rate. Ms. Fenselon added that if the funding does not come through they will have to cut more services, unless the General Fund wants to kick in more money. United Way may be interested in funding Saturday transit service as United Way has gotten an outcry from the public for this service. The local funds request is what was approved in the tax budget and the additional is on the capital end using advertising money to offset capital purchases. The local match of $53,045.00 is what was approved in the tax budget.

Being no comments from the public Commissioner Albert closed the public hearing at 10:40 a.m.

HEALTH DISTRICT – DISCUSSION ON UPCOMING HEALTH LEVY

Robert Weisdack, Health Commissioner discussed the upcoming health .2 mill replacement levy that will allow enough funds to continue to provide vital health services in Geauga County. The average cost for a household for this levy will be less than $20.00 per year. Mr. Weisdack reported that currently homeowners are paying $4.71 per $100,000.00 value of their home. If this levy passes the cost will increase to $6.13 per $100,000.00. The current levy expires December 2009 and the replacement would begin January 1, 2010. Some of the public health services include Child immunization and blood pressure clinics, personal health services, TB testing, adult immunizations and environmental health services. More and more clients are coming in for public health services. As the needs increase the use of public health services increase and expenses increase as well. Mr. Weisdack presented maps showing how much each township would have paid if the Health District would have chosen to do political subdivision assessments for services. As an example Bainbridge Township would have paid $626,292.00 over a 9 year period. This levy helps maintain the general fund revenues for the townships. The Health District keeps all costs reasonable, is careful with their budget and vehicles are maintained and are not replaced just because they are two or three years old. Mr. Weisdack reported they have laid off two staff members and are watching the budget daily but are trying not to digress and still provide good quality health to the public in the community. The Health District is asking for support for this levy. Commissioner Albert (as a member of the Health District Advisory Council) stated, as he has previously, that he believed the Health District should have asked for more money than this levy is asking for. Commissioner Albert stated that the cost to property owners is so insignificant, as far as the extra cost, that this levy should be passed. Commissioner Samide added that $20.00 a year is a small price to pay. However, she would have liked to have seen this levy, as well as school levies, to have been more distributed rather than on the homeowners. Department on Aging Director Sally Bell commented that child immunizations alone are a priceless service. The Health District saves the Department on Aging a lot of money and their services to the elderly population are priceless.
