Walter "Skip" Claypool stated that he wanted to ask a question that may have changed the vote. Ms. Samide stated that the Board had talked extensively and that they all have different opinions. Ms. Samide expressed her feelings about the process being in the middle of someone coming back, adding that the policy does need to be looked at and we need to change what we don't like, but that it shouldn't be done in the middle of the process. Ms. Samide stated that either we do it or do not do it. Commissioner Jemison explained that his thought process was to look at it as a business decision, that since this has been being done there has been a savings of $500,000.00, and in 2008 when we were going down twenty percent (20%) this process allowed us to maintain the quality of services that we have. Mr. Jemison added that there were some layoffs and loss of employees through attrition, but that they were able to leverage what is considered an investment in our employees that we pay fourteen percent or more of their retirement, with law enforcement being higher. Mr. Jemison added that they retire, we rehire them back at least a ten percent savings, which in this situation is a fifty percent savings and in the end save the taxpayers money and have quality people coming back, restating that to him it's a business decision. Mr. Claypool questioned the math, adding that he had huge questions and disagreed with the calculations, adding that the savings he saw were nominal. Mr. Jemison added that he felt $500,000.00 in savings wasn't nominal and directed Mr. Claypool to look at the tax budget and the salary line items depicting the decrease, thus the savings. Commissioner Spidalieri expressed his position as there is no savings that the employees were coming back at the same rate at just half the time. Mr. Spidalieri stated that there could have been a better job done of interviewing all the candidates that had applied. Mr. Spidalieri stated that were looking at a selection process that may have had other candidates and that his biggest contention is that this is not looking at the future, but rather a temporary fix, bringing somebody that could potentially could come into the position that could go to Full-time or the learn more, that there is no exit strategy, just a temporary band aid. Mr. Spidalieri stated that the Board understands that there is a policy that needs to be restructured, that the perception is bad and that other people need to be given an opportunity. Ms. Samide added that the process in which the individuals were interviewed was the same process that has been used by that organization in the past, they look at experience in the field being applied for, and if an individual who is an electrician is applying for social work position, the experience and knowledge could be there just not in the field for which the position is for. Ms. Samide stated that the organization has assured the Board that this is what has been done, adding that the policy needs to be reviewed, but not change it in the middle of the process of bringing someone back. Local resident Walter Leagan raised the question about the future of the position being part-time and why it had been full-time in the past. Acting Director Kathy Petrella explained that one of the things that was looked at was the need of a full-time social worker in the department, so they looked at areas that could be adjusted and it was determined that these two areas would be able to be changed and allow the need to be accomplished. Mr. Leagan expressed concern over being told that there would be part-time and full-time and the expense would be increased. Ms. Samide and Mr. Jemison responded that the positions could have been kept full-time and remained with the same expenses and added a full-time social worker, however the cost was too much and couldn't be done, so it was determined to take the two full-time positions and make them part-time and then take the savings from those positions and use it to fill the need of the full-time social worker, so there is still a savings. Mr. Claypool expressed his concern about the thinking taking place in regards to the "saving" being seen from the reduction of hours of the positions and whether this "thinking" would affect other decisions made. Ms. Petrella added that some duties of both positions would be being absorbed by the social worker. Local resident Ms. Hippely expressed concern over what is happening in Cleveland and the Federal Government and why people are so disgusted with things today adding that because something is legal, doesn't make it right. Ms. Hippely added that double dipping is not right and that tax money is being used to do this and that it would not happen in the private sector. Mr. Jemison noted that recently an individual in the private sector had testified that it indeed was happening in the private sector. Discussion occurred about the differences between being a retiree and being hired versus someone who is retired and rehired back to the same position in the same company. It was expressed by some that this is a destruction of trust and games are being played. Mr. Jemison posed a question about someone being 59.5 years of age and taking their 401K investments and was still working full-time. The audience responded that it was their private decision. Mr. Jemison added that a persons retirement is their retirement and that it is part of a salary that was paid to them during the twenty or thirty years they earned while serving the residents of Geauga County, that it was not up to us to say to them you can't take the retirement, that it's a bad thing. Mr. Jemison stated that it shouldn't be about the employee and that he was afraid it was, that this should be a business decision about saving money and the best interest for the county. Discussion took place about the PERS system being damaged, that it was changing and the reasoning why people were choosing to take their retirement against social security that is in a deficit and the differences in the amounts that employees and employers pay into both. Some confusion had occurred in the discussion about the part-time positions and the full-time social worker and it was clarified that both Ms. Gliha and Ms. Slattery were hired back at the same position that they had retired from which previously had been full-time positions, and that the positions were both now part-time at twenty hours a week, to which the remaining 40 hours was being used to hire a full-time social worker for which interviews were currently being done. Another local resident expressed concern about the time period of two months that had transpired between when Ms. Gliha and Ms. Slattery had retired and whom was doing the jobs of both while they were gone. It was discussed that other people in the department had been cross-trained and covering as best they could while interviews were being done to replace the vacancy. Audience members expressed their concern over process of the rehiring, that it doesn't pass the smell test and that it was a manipulation of the system, being a "good ol' boys" network. Ms. Samide expressed that in the private sector business can get rid of an employee more easily than classified employees. Ms. Samide noted that while the policy needed to be looked at and changes could be made, that the decision on that policy by the Commissioners does not change the other agencies, departments and elected officials and how they handle their retire rehiring process. Local resident Tom

Jones disagreed with Ms. Samide in that Townships and other boards tend to echo the policies of the Commissioners. Ms. Samide added while that may be the case, the decision of the Board does not change the decisions of others. Mr. Claypool noted that he had received an email that the Sheriff had just rehired four retirees. Ms. Samide and Mr. Jemison added that it was true and that a Judge had also recently taken a similar action with one of his employees, adding that the major difference was that the Commissioners hold Public Hearing regarding their proposed rehiring and give the public a chance to give information. The audience thanked the board for giving them the opportunity to speak and have a conversation, that other elected officials aren't always as willing. Local resident Jim Leagan posed the question regarding the motion being made by Mr. Spidalieri whom voted no. It was clarified that a motion could be made in agreement to hold a vote, and that it was more of a procedural process than specifically how a Board member voted.

Mr. Claypool then presented the members of the Board with the definition of "Return on Investment".
